The Tobacco Problem!

Those best posted on the tobacco situation have agreed that smaller crops and better quality is the only solution to the problem. What you raise make it good and you'll get a good price no matter what the conditions. You can't raise good tobacco without good plants and good plants can be grown only under Canvas in these days, plentiful in bugs, flies and changing temperature. By a fortunate purchase before the rise in cotton we are able to offer the same prices on Canvas as we had last year, although cotton is twice as high:

Poor Quality, 1 1-4 cents,
Fair Quality, 2 cents,
Good Quality, 2 1-2 cents,
Better Quality, 3 cents,
Very Best Quality, 3 1-2c.

JAPAN WILL WAIT.

No Attack Will Be Made By Land For Ten Days.

Turkey Threatens To Get into The Game Against Russia—
Fleet Bottled Up.

Washington, March 2.—(Information received here from authentic sources, believed to be from government representatives at Tokio, is to the effect that no sustained attack will be made on Port Arthur before March 15, by which time the land and sea forces can co-operate for the capture of the place. The lack of news from Port Arthur is believed to be due to the fact that nothing is being done there.

Russia's Bottled Fleet.

Constantinople, March 2.—The Turkish government has resolved forcibly to prevent the Russian Black Sea fleet from passing through the Dardanelles, and a fight will probably occur should such an attempt be made. The defenses along the straits have been strengthened and additional mines have been laid. Officers have been appointed specially to supervise
these measures.

The reason for Turkey's bold action, it is learned, is the strong representations have been made by the other powers against such a breach of Russia's treaty obligation. England has informed the Sultan that should the Russian vessels pass through the straits,
the British fleet would do likewise and make a demonstration before the windows of the Yildiz Kiosk itself.

The historic Dardanelles are a little over forty-three miles long,
and from three to four miles wide,
but at the narrowest part not more than 1,000 yards across. This is at a point guarded by Chasak Kaleesi castle, where huge chains are used to bar the passage. The strait connects the Sea of Marmora with the Aegean, and is supposed to be the key of the Turkish capital, Vladivostok isolated.

Shanghai, March 2.—Confidential information has been received here from an official source at Tokio that the Japanese have succeeded in gaining possession of the Russian telegraph line to Vladivostok, thus cutting off that port from the world, as the Danish cable line is still un-repaired. Official information also comes to the effect that a mile and a quarter of the Transiberian railway has been blown up between Harbin and Nikolai. This information leads to the belief that the belief that the Japanese are marching on Vladivostok.

RECEIPTS INCREASING

Both in Loose Tobacco and in Hogsheads.

There has been more or less moist weather during the week and a fairly good season for rehandling the weed has prevailed. Loose deliveries have been much larger than last week.

R. M. Woodriddle & Co. had the largest sale of the year, about 125,000 pounds being offered. The market showed more activity and there were a number of new buyers in attendance. Lugs ranged in price from $2 to $3, and leaf from $3.50 to $6.50.

The farmers have burned plant-beds, but the number being prepared is considerably smaller than usual and the indications are that the crop of 1904 will be much smaller than that grown last year. The inspectors' report shows receipts for the year, 50 hogsheads. Sales for the week amounted to fifteen hogsheads (sold privately). Sales for the year, 512 hogsheads.

Roller Skates Popular.

Gracey people are wild on the latest fad—roller skating. A big vacant tobacco factory has been fitted up for the sport and the whole population attends the nightly tournaments.

FINED $400

For Killing Another Negro Near Garrettsburg.

Bishop Gets Off With Light Sentence In His Murder Case.

The jury in the case of Albert Bishop, charged with the murder of Ed White at a colored gathering near Garrettsburg last September, found the defendant guilty of involuntary manslaughter. He was fined $400. In default of payment in money he will have to serve the fine out at hard labor in the workhouse.

The jury took the case Tuesday morning, but a verdict was not returned until Wednesday evening.

Under the instruction of the court
the jury could only find the prisoner guilty of murder or involuntary manslaughter. But for this he would probably have been given a term in the penitentiary shorter than a life sentence. It is usual to instruct juries in murder cases to reduce to manslaughter if they think proper to do so, but the customary course was departed from in this instance. A fine of $400 for killing a man is the most remarkable verdict ever returned in this county. As the county has no workhouse system now, his punishment amounts to a simple jail sentence for 400 days.

The damage suit of A. E. Gold-worthy against ex-sheriff J. J.
Barnes, his deputy Charles J.
Barnes, and his surety, the Fidelity (Casualty Company, has been on trial since Tuesday. Goldworthy alleges that he was illegally arrested on the day of the assassination of special Deputy Sheriff R. H.
Coffey near Empire.

Deputy Barnes made the arrest.
The suit is for $25,000.

FRUIT PROSPECTS

Are Now All That Could be Hoped For.

The warm days this week have started fruit buds to swelling and brought out the fact that the prospects are for the finest fruit crop ever seen in Kentucky. Peaches, plums and apricots are loaded down with buds and there are no indications that there will not be as good a crop of pears, apples and small fruits, that are not yet developed. Indications are that spring is close at hand and if we can escape killing frosts after the trees bloom, we may look forward to plenty of "peaches and cream" next summer. The present cold wave will cause another setback.

NOW IN ST. LOUIS

ingham of Webster County.

Judge P. M. Willingham formerly

283 Lucas Avenue. Judge Willingham is in the city to attend the trial of his damage suit against the Western Asylum, growing out of the death of his son, Jas. Y. Willingham, in 1902.

RU-UNION TIME CHANGED.

Veterans Will Meet at Nashville
in June This Year.

Nashville, Tenn., March 3.—The general committee, having in charge
the coming re-union here of the United Confederate Veterans, at a meeting here decided to change the date, originally set for September 13, 14 and 15 next. It was determined to leave the selection of the dates to the commander-in-chief and the department commanders, with the recommendation that June 14, 15 and 16 be named. Subcommittees for convention work were chosen.

REALTY DEAL

occupied by Mr. W. H. Shanklin as a marble works. The price paid was $2,000. Some time during the year a modern business house will be erected to take the place of the present structure.

WITHERSPOON ACQUITTED.

Lindie's Deputy Held Not Guilty
of Earton Murder.

Madisonville, Ky., March 2.—In the case of the commonwealth against E. Witherspoon, charged with complicity in the murder of Jesse Burton at Earlington last summer, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal late yesterday afternoon.

Interesting Notes of a Nature Loving Tourist.

It seemed to me that the most of the south have been generated by the beauty of the olive tree, was writer for the "Constitution." Indeed, I saw no beauty in it at all. The leaves look as if they had been bleached by sulphur, and the fruits of the shambling olive trees as if they had been hacked with an axe. The younger trees are more graceful, but don't appeal to the sympathies of one from the land of shapely spruce and pines, the ash, the maple and the elm. The spindly and yawning fragments of an old olive trunk have an meaning look, as some nightmarish tree illustration in Dante's "Inferno." The only lemon groves I could not get my eyes on North of Naples were one or two at Cap d'Antibes, and two or three near Mentone. At Plesio there was a garden full of lemons grown in big terra cotta tubs. The oranges of the Riviera are wretched, all the best fruit, heavy and sweet juice, coming from Spain, Sicily and Jaffa. The fragments at Monte Carlo are full of the fragrant pittedness. They seem the air around of the very perfume of the orange blossom, only it is not at all overpowering or offensively sweet, but delicate and sense-enriching, like wafts of fresh frosty air.

We are so used to thinking of the Hawthorne hedge and feature of English landscape that I dare say it will surprise many to be told that the hawthorn is at least as common in the Pisan plain and in parts of southern Italy as it is in England.

Everywhere in Italy and France the trees are probably cultivated. Where they are allowed to grow to their normal height, as they sometimes do in the mountains, I observed, for example, from the southwest, as they do all over America. Of course where silk worm culture is carried on, as between Milan and Como, it is necessary that the mulberry trees be trained low for convenience in the picking of larvae. Where grapes are grown it is hard to tell why ficus saplings are universally planted and trimmed down as support for the vines, unless it is that ground could not be spared for coppices or that the fruit ripens best in partial shade. In Paganico and Termoli the chestnuts are planted to enrich the soil. In the mountains of the Abruzzi hills by tourists are always a pine and a cypress, and I had wondered how in the world grapes could ripen in the shade of large trees. A glance explained all, the trees turned out to be no taller than the hop poles, and so trimmed to a few horizontal branches trained lowwise on the row that the shading was reduced to a minimum. The vines hung in loops or festoons from sapling or sapling, as if taking hold of hands. On the foothills south of the Campanian travelers may see grape vines grow around a bunch of dead poles tied together waggam fashion at the top. The sapling trees are rarely more than 15 feet high, generally not so much. In one region only, and that near Naples, did I see the vines trained on tolerably large trees, swinging from hole to hole, like spider webs. That the latter sun does not necessitate this I discovered by the vineyards on the fiery southern slope of Vesuvius, which are trained low and have scarcely any shade.

Moving a Church.

A singular piece of work has lately been carried out in Russia. At the village of Kotchansk, near Novgorod, stood a full-sized church which was pronounced to be in an unsafe condition and was to be pulled down. But the building contained many souvenirs of the famous Marshal Souvorov, and his old regiment, which is stationed at St. Petersburg, decided to purchase it. Money being no object, the whole church was carefully taken down, each piece being numbered, and loaded into 330 wagons. It was then transported to the capital, and there has been reerected with such care that it is as good as new and may last for centuries.

They Are Hopkinstville People, and What They Say is of Local Interest.

When an incident like the following occurs right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. So many strange occurrences go the rounds of the press, are published as facts, people be come skeptical. On one subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual experience of our citizens, and their public attitude regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day, leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

John J. Hasford, cooper, of 766 East 9th St., says: "My back used to be so lame and sore at times that when I bent it all I could do to straighten it up again. The pain was always with me and I could not stand for any length of time without feeling them. I doctored at one time but did not obtain the slightest benefit. My attention was called to an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills and I determined to try them. I got a box at Thomas & Traher's drug store and after using them a few days could not help but notice a marked improvement in my condition. My health is better now than it has been in years. I give all the credit to Doan's Kidney Pills, and strongly recommend them to others."

As a laxative it is not only palatable, but has no gripping or nauseating effect, but is very mild."

One Change Now Authorized Which May Lead to Others.

The British government has taken a step which slightly simplifies the system of weights and measures now in vogue in the United Kingdom. For a long time the phrase "hundredweight" has meant 112 pounds, and "half a hundred" 56 pounds. Hereafter, according to the New York Tribune, it will be legal to use a 50-pound weight. The American consul at Liverpool declares that that city has felt the necessity for the change more than any other place, as this is the leading port of entry for American and colonial produce of bulk, the weighing of which is a considerable item in the handling, and, indeed, in the ultimate cost of the shipments. More cotton, corn, provisions and tobacco are imported into Liverpool than any other city in the world, and by far the largest proportions of these imports come from the United States; so that the United States is peculiarly interested in the reform just instituted.

Americans have great difficulty in understanding the English system of weights—almost as much as they encounter in trying to understand the English fractional system of coinage. For instance, if you ask a man here how much he weighs, he will tell you, say, "11 stone 7." A "stone" is 14 pounds; so 11 stone would be 154 pounds, and adding the extra seven pounds the weight given would be 161 pounds. Even Englishmen to the manner born have to make mental calculation in arriving at the result in pounds in such a case.

Sometimes provisions and other articles are sold at so much a stone, and then if the quantity purchased weighs a few odd pounds over a stone or a number of stones the purchaser and seller have to figure out the price per pound. It is the hope and expectation that the results from the adoption of the new standard of weight of 50 pounds will be so satisfactory that before long the old fashioned "hundredweight" of 112 pounds will be entirely abolished along with the stone, and that a decimal fraction system of five pounds, ten pounds and twenty-five pounds will come into general use.

Whether this reform will retard or promote the adoption of the metric system by England—now the only important European country that has not introduced it—is a difficult question to answer. Owing to the inertia of the people, it may not be thought best to follow one change quickly with another. Still, the kilogram is so nearly equal to two pounds, and the metric ton differs so little from the "long" ton, that their adoption would cause little inconvenience or confusion. Moreover, by adopting wholesale and retail buyers to the decimal system of computing weights the innovations just made ought to render a further extension of the method comparatively easy.

A Curious Faculty.

The association of colors with sounds, or "color-hearing," is believed to be a faculty of one healthy person in every ten. This and other mixing of sensations occurs in certain abnormal conditions, and the peculiar state of mind giving rise to it is now studied under the name of "synesthesia." In a remarkable case reported by Dr. Alfred Ulrich, of Zurich, the senses seem to have all been involved at once. A box of notes on temperament, who developed epilepsy in his thirteenth year, had always heard colored sounds, different sounds of the voice and the cries of animals having each its characteristic color. The sounds of the vowels gave especially vivid colors. A being light green, E yellow, I black, O red, I dark green and Y white. Some sounds gave also sensations of taste, of temperature and of form. Sensations of form were associated with color and sound; smells had colors, tastes had colors, and colors had taste and temperature. Cold was green and heat was red.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE NECESSARY MAGAZINE IN THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR.

The Review of Reviews is often called a necessity, in recognition of its usefulness in keeping readers "up with the times."

In Presidential election years the REVIEW OF REVIEWS is more than ever "the necessary magazine." Everybody wants to be truly and quickly informed about this or that public question that has forged to the front; to know about the new candidates and personal factors in politics, to have a complete picture at hand of the current movement of history.

In Dr. Shaw's editorial, in his authentic and timely contributions, brilliant character sketches, in its condensations and reviews of all the important articles of other magazines, in its hundred months of valuable political, literary, and interesting views, the REVIEW OF REVIEWS gives the kind of news of the world and our own progress. The World under a single glass "is the way one subscriber describes it. Here, in public life, the President Theodore Roosevelt, the members of Congress, and the great captains of industry, who must keep 'up with the times,' intelligent men and women all over America, have decided it is 'indispensable.'"

The Baltimore Fire Loss.

It is thought that from one-half to two-thirds of Baltimore's total loss will be covered by insurance. Two insurance companies found the sudden accumulation of losses to be too great for their resources, and announced their failure. If the sale of February 7 that bore in before the fire and devastation had swung into the South, instead of the North, many Baltimoreans might have been able to collect only a fraction of the sums due from insurance companies. The example of the Chicago fire, where the insurance companies were not able to pay in full, and the narrow escape from such a condition in Baltimore, suggest the advisability of carrying still further, at any expense of complexity, the already admirable system of re-insurance and division of risks among a multitude of companies. It should be impossible for any conflagration to threaten the solvency of an insurance company in good standing,—such a calamity may ruin the most prudent merchant,—and it should be the aim of insurance interests and insurance legislation to approach near this idea, as business conditions will allow, by dividing the risks to such a degree that no single conflagration can find in its path a sufficient proportion of the risks of one company to endanger its solvency. In Baltimore, many of the losses have already been paid with exemplary promptness, and, curiously enough, it is said some of the larger insurance companies are of the opinion that they actually gain, over a term of years, from such a startling disaster as Baltimore's owing to the convincing advertisement of the desirability of fire insurance. Over $2,000,000 of the Baltimore insurance was placed with twenty-nine foreign companies,—in Germany, Holland, Scotland, and even Russia.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

The Cotton Farmer's Profit.

An important question is the result to the cotton farmer. Cotton is his "cash" crop. He uses on his farm or in his home all or part of the corn, wheat, fodder, hay, and pork produced in the year's operations. For the overcoat that must be bought, for the taxes that must be paid, for the farm machinery, the daughter's schooling, interest on the mortgage, he relies on the proceeds of the cotton crop. One big wagon load of raw cotton bales brought him $100 in cash, delivered at the nearest station. At this low price of five years ago, however, there was in many parts of the South no profit in cotton raising. All of the twenty-five dollars brought by a bale had been borrowed to pay for seed, labor, and plows. The farmer got nothing for his work and land. What price did he get this winter while clamoring brokers were offering 17 cents and more, and fortunes are being made on the exchange? From a number of individual instances, it seems probable that the farmers, as a body, sold their 1903 crop at prices ranging from 9 to 14 cents. So, while they did not, of course, get the top prices, there was still a glorious profit, especially as compared with the lean years of the nineties. The South wears a broad smile of complacency, its country banks are full of overflowing deposits, and Southern farmers are boasting that they will be in a financial condition next year—the first for many years—to wait for the cotton prices that seem fair to them.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

Col. Jere Baxter Passes Away At His Nashville Home.

Did much for the Commercial Welfare of this City and State and Was a Circumstantial.

Nashville, Tenn. March 1.—Col. Jere Baxter, one of the best known and most beloved men in Tennessee, is dead.

Col. Baxter died yesterday morning, after an illness of over five weeks. He was operated on several times, and a death was directly due to exhaustion consequent upon his inability to retain nourishment.

Col. Baxter was one of the best known and most progressive citizens in the State, and played a conspicuous part in its military, material and political annals. He was the youngest man that ever occupied the presidency of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, and most of his energies were directed to the advancement of the material and commercial welfare of his native city.

Col. Baxter was a staunch Democrat and represented Davidson county in the Senate of the last Legislature.

He was the originator and first president of the Tennessee Central railroad, and retired from the presidency about eight months ago, upon the completion of the extension of the line. He was a brother of Ed. Baxter, special counsel of the Associated Railways of the South, and of Nat. Baxter, former president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company.

MEDALS IN PAW.

Of the Courage That Tell of Pluck, Romance or Crime.

This soldier pawned his valor for five cents. In a window of a Philadelphia pawnshop hangs the bronze occasional medal for which a young color faced death, says the Press.

Driven to despair by hunger and want, this priceless treasure went for a trifle. Nor did it come to the pawnshop alone, for by itself it would bring scarcely enough to buy a loaf of bread.

The medal in chief hangs suspended by two chains of four or five small links from a cross-bar, bearing the word "valor." A raised figure of a soldier in campaign uniform stands at parade rest. Beneath him are the words: "July-August, 1898."

Over the head are the words: "Presented to," and directly under them is a blank space for the name of the recipient of the award for services in the war with Spain.

"Oh, yes," said the money-lender, in a matter-of-fact way, "I have had a number of them. They ain't worth anything, though. I only take them along with a lot of other stuff. No, they are seldom redeemed."

"After the time runs out on them, I hang them up in the window and some well-dressed chap comes in and buys one. The only kind of service he's seen was behind a counter, but when he goes out of town where nobody knows him he'll pose as a hero."

"The badge isn't worth anything. You see this kind of badge is out of style now. The grand army veterans mostly wear bronze buttons in their button holes. Years ago a soldier would think it a disgrace to see this in the window of a pawnshop, and he would hasten to buy it."

"I guess I'll keep it for luck."

"Presented by citizens of Philadelphia to —," but permission to inspect and to hear the story of a beautiful medal, or rather two, which stand out conspicuously against a mass of rings, revolvers, boxing gloves, knives, opera glasses, etc., in the window of a pawnshop on Front street was given only on the promise that the name would not be mentioned. "These medals are companion. On one is engraved the above quotation. On the other is: For Humanity and Heroism Displayed! Rescuing the Passengers and Crew of the Steamship Demaria in December, 1899. From Citizens of Philadelphia to Officers and Crew of Steamship Missouri."

The medal is extremely beautiful. The crossbar is fully two inches long and represents a heavy timber of a wrecked ship. In the center of the crossbar is a life preserver. Colored around either end of the bar and extending diagonally downward are two cables, studded with miniature pulleys. They support the medal proper.

The figure of a ministering angel on pendant wing graces one side of the disk. In one hand she offers a wreath of laurel to a kneeling figure. With the other the sign of a blessing is given.

This one is made of silver. The other, in gold, represents the American eagle soaring aloft with a crossbar of wreckage tightly gripped in its powerful talons. Hanging from the eagle's prize are two chains which carry the story of the rescue.

This is the story of their pawn ing:

"Fully eight years ago a man somewhat past the prime of life came into my shop and drew this from his pocket with a trembling hand," said the pawnbroker. "I saw that he was against starvation. He said to me: 'I have not a cent in the world. Everything else has gone. Now these must go too, for I must live. Keep them carefully for me. Some day I will come for them—if I ever go to sea again. Give me such as you can and take two years' interest out.'"

"I did so and I guess he went to sea again. I have received three remittances of interest money from as many different foreign countries."

"I haven't heard from him for two years. Perhaps he's dead. I will keep these medals awhile longer in hope that he will turn up. Aside from their sentimental value they are worth considerable."

AN INDIAN CHIEF OF TO-DAY.

Gov. J. B. Hightest of the Osage Nation—His Career.

Gov. James Hightest, chief of the Osage Indian nation, and one of the most prominent and picturesque figures of the southwest is a remarkable man in many respects, and his career has been one of honor and of usefulness to mankind, says the Bartlesville (Okla.) Examiner. A fullblooded Osage Indian, he was born 64 years ago in Henry county, Mo., near where is now the town of Clinton. When the Osages were removed to their reservation in eastern Kansas, Nimshtah-kah, which is the Osage equivalent for "Big heart," accompanied the tribe and for a number of years made his home in the beautiful Neosho valley. At a tender age he was taken in hand by the Jesuit fathers, whose kindly, self-sacrificing men whose teachings and examples have been indelibly impressed upon the Osages and are reflected in the daily lives and actions of the men and women of the tribe, and under their instruction he was fitted and equipped for the sphere of usefulness that he has filled.

The young Indian was a student at the old Osage mission (St. Paul), a few miles north of the present town of Parsons, from his seventeenth to his twenty-third year, when the civil war began. At a call for volunteers, Hightest, of the Osage tribe, among them of the Big Heart, the present intemperat at the Osage agency, enlisted under Capt. H. F. N. in company I, Ninth Kansas volunteer cavalry. During the three years he served in the army Big heart participated in a number of hotly contested engagements, and rendered valuable service throughout his enlistment. To day he receives a pension from the government for disabilities incurred while in the war. He is an enthusiastic member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and is invariably a prominent member at the reunions and gatherings of the veterans.

Gov. Hightest is now serving for the second time as chief executive of the Osage nation. His chief duties are always charged with the exercise of wisdom, conservatism and good sense. Under his direction of tribal affairs the communal lands have been prospected, and the tribe has been afforded and happy. Gov. Hightest is a man of liberal views, and his efforts have been for the benefit of his people. He refuses to be a part of the tribal relations, and he believes the fullblooded element of the tribe to meet it.

Gov. Hightest is perhaps the wealthiest individual Indian in the territory to day, if not in the United States. He has several fine improved farms and cattle ranches in the reservation, and the doors of his comfortable and well furnished home are never closed against anyone who passes by. In addition to his farm land and live stock interests the governor is a director and heavy stockholder in two national banks and president of the Citizens' Trading company, one of the strongest and most extensive mercantile institutions in the reservation.

Quadricycle Fire Engine.

A quadricycle composed of two tandem bicycles arranged side by side has been invented in Paris to serve as a fire engine in case of emergency. It is worked by four men, and is fitted with the necessary hose pipe and fittings, which occupy the space between the riders. On reaching the scene of action it will be the work of a minute to bring the hose pipes into play on the fire.

Tinted Lace Curtains.

To tint lace curtains cream color add an ounce of yellow ochre to two ounces of starch and mix in the usual way with boiling water. Strain the starch to clear it of lumps. It is best to soak a pair of curtains at the same time, for thus one can insure both being of the same shade of color.

FOODS SOME MEN DISLIKE.

Strange Antipathies to Certain Vegetables Are Often Manifested.

That which is one man's meat is another man's poison, is a truism that finds frequent corroboration in one's life experiences. Among the extraordinary series of food antipathies collected by Schenck is found the following:—Johannes Pavlovskis, the most excellent physician of his age, had lately expressed himself that if at any time he could eat garlic he was less than a man. He had been told that it was the very same symptoms of poisoning him as he used in those that are poisoned, and was hurt by the smell of it as if it had been something offensive.

Johannes Oberlin, a secretary to the French king Francis I., had such an antipathy to apples that if he was obliged to sit near them at table for any considerable time a copious epistaxis always resulted. We have known one patient in whom the eating of any raw fruit produced severe asthmatic symptoms, swelling of the tongue, etc. Any well-cooked fruit could be eaten with impunity. The celebrated Julius Cæsar, Scallier always grew deadly pale when a plate of watercress was placed near him.

Zimmermann mentions the case of a lady of his acquaintance who trembled violently whenever she touched the velvet skin of a peach. Prince De Conde, father of the ill-fated Duc d'Enghien, could never attempt to eat fruit of any kind. Duchesne, secretary of Francis I., is reported to have had a hemorrhage of apples similar to that of Johannes Oberlin, already referred to, and the Polish king, Jagellon, always fled from the sight of one. And are told by Schenck that a noble count of Arnstadt had such an antipathy to olive oil that all kinds of sauces that were prepared with it and set in the room where he was must suddenly be taken thence, or else he would immediately be taken with deadly faintings. The celebrated Dr. Johannes Heurnius tells us of himself that whenever he ventured to partake of pepper or horse radish, even in minute quantities, he was sure to be afterward "tortured with the cruel pains of the colic."

Patti will make another of her frequent farewell visits to Louisville to-night.

Gen. Chas. F. Dick, now a representative, has been elected to succeed Hanna, as Senator from Ohio.

North Carolina is now in the path of a new "Juggernaut" law, with the accent on the "not."

A big sensation was kicked up in Owensboro over the disappearance of Guy Deane, because he took a trip to Texas without taking the public into his confidence.

The Owensboro inquirer says Miss Pauline Stone, who was born Feb. 29, 1888, was prevented by measles from celebrating her third birthday last Monday.

Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, has been decided upon for Roosevelt's running mate, and the state will go through without a hitch of any sort.

The electrocution bill which has passed the Senate, it is said will also pass the House. It will substitute the electric chair for the gallows in Kentucky.

Lieut. Gov. Thorne referred the League School Bill to Senate Committee, which it is understood will pass it as it was hardly to be heard from.

The sixth district Democratic committee decided on county conventions April 23, and district convention at Newport April 27, to nominate a candidate for congress to succeed the Hon. D. Linn Gooch.

The Darlington Hotel, a thirteen-story apartment house in New York, in course of construction, collapsed and fifteen workmen were buried in the ruins, Wednesday.

The bill agreed upon by the three schools of doctors, allopaths, homeopaths and osteopaths, has become a law. It will make it very difficult for any one to practice as a physician in Kentucky who is not well grounded in one or the other of these classes of doctors.

The people of Nashville are preparing to erect a monument to Col. Jere Baxter's memory. As a promoter of the Tennessee Central Railroad, Col. Baxter proved to be the most influential public man Nashville has produced in many years.

Miss Pearl Wickersham, a St. Louis girl who ran away and married a young law student last August, has returned to her parents and secured a divorce by agreement, because the young couple found that love and kisses would not pay board bills. Miss Pearl has resumed her studies at college.

The bill making the circuit clerk instead of the sheriff chairman of the county election board in counties having cities of the second class, has passed both houses. It was intended to depose Sheriff McKinney, of Kenton county, in the interest of the other faction of the Democratic party.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh are sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists Price, 75c. Write, Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them. They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it did me the most good. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. J. A. Brown, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

The banquet of the Frankfort people Tuesday night, to the legislators and State officials, was attended by 250 politicians and lasted nearly all night. There were many speeches made, including responses by Gov. Beckham and Lieut. Gov. Thorne. Judge J. H. Hazelrigg was toastmaster. Christian county had four guests present—Messrs. R. C. Crenshaw, G. V. Green, G. E. Dalton and Jas. F. Rogers.

Bro. Glenn of the Madisonville Graphic, made a second and successful attempt to reach Florida last week, to visit his daughter. He started three weeks ago and was "touched" at Birmingham while patronizing a lunch counter and had to return home to get a new supply of money and railroad passes.

The war news this week has been made up of rumors and rumors, most of which turned out to be gross exaggerations. The one definite development of the week is the expressed desire of the Czar to himself to go to the scene of war, to live up to the fighting traditions of his ancestors. But Gen. Kouropatkin very promptly said no.

South Trimble seems to be up against a game of politics in his efforts to secure a renomination in the Seventh district. The field combined against him and gave him a convention for May 12, when he waited a primary election. He will have to come home and get busy at once.

A Royal wedding took place in Westminster Abbey Tuesday, Lady Grisel Cochrane, daughter of Lord Dundonald, was married to Hon. Ralph Hamilton. The bride had fourteen bridesmaids and the affair was very swell.

Congressman Shafroth, of Colorado, is still in a class by himself. He resigned because he found that his election was by crooked methods. Up to a late hour last night Congressman Hunter, of Kentucky, had not resigned.

Congressman Scott, of Kansas, defended Roosevelt from the Booker Washington episode, by stating in a speech that Cleveland, when President, died with C. H. J. Taylor, his negro appointee for Register of Deeds for the District of Columbia. It is up to Grover now to confess or deny.

The Republican Committee of the Eleventh district has called a primary election for August 9 to nominate a candidate to succeed Congressman Hunter. The late date is a victory for Hunter and Parker. There will be six candidates.

And so Korea, with whom we have a treaty compelling us to aid her when called upon, has become ally of Japan. Now when Korea calls on us to help her and incidentally help Japan, what is to keep us from having trouble with Russia?

Hearst seems to be the only presidential candidate who has a well defined following in Kentucky. Other candidates may have admirers, but it is not clear where they are to get any votes.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed Judge Cantrell's decision awarding the salaries to the ousted Republican State officials from Jan 1 to Feb. 26, 1900.

DIFFERENCE IN PRICE

Due to Location And Not to Production.

He was an oldish man and his appearance was such that a glance gave the assurance that he was not a regular theatre-goer. His clothing had seen long service, his linen was not of the freshest, his shoes were guiltless of polish. The special policeman at the theatre had some difficulty in inducing him to take his position in the line filing past the box-office window. When he finally reached the opening he braced himself to resist pressure, and prepared for a long stay.

"How be ye?" he asked the treasurer. The official in question replied that his health was excellent.

"Air yew th' young feller that sells tickets for th' show?"

This time a nod was the only answer vouchsafed. The oldish man drew forth his wallet.

"How much?" he inquired.

"A dollar and half downstairs, and a dollar up stairs."

"What's going on?" The line quivered.

"Way Down East," responded the treasurer gently but firmly.

"Down Stairs?"

"A rural play—"Way Down East."

"Gosh!" said the prospective patron. "What's gon' on up stairs?"

The treasurer assured that the difference in price was due to location and not to the production. The seats were purchased and the line moved on.

"Way Down East" will be presented at Holland's Opera House on Friday night, March 18.

She extends a cordial invitation to the ladies to call and see her before purchasing Spring millinery.

TWO BRIDGEMEN KILLED.

Stepped on the Main Track Directly in Front of Florida Limited.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 1.—Sweeney and Homer Price, two bridgemen, were struck and instantly killed at Shellsound by southbound train No. 93, known as the Florida limited, on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway. They evidently neither heard nor saw the train and so quickly did the accident happen that the engineer only saw one of the men and did not know another had been struck until the train backed to the scene.

Among the bills killed in the legislature Wednesday were the following: Increasing to $75 a month salaries of prison guards, raising per capita of Reform school inmates to $100, appropriating $21,000 to school of Reform, to repeal public advertising law, prohibiting sale of liquor within four miles of a schoolhouse, compelling removal of hats in theatres and making prison commissioners ineligible to succeed themselves.

THE ATHENAEUM

Holds an Interesting Fleeting Last Night—The Open Meeting Program.

The Athenaeum held its regular monthly meeting last night at Hotel Latham. There were two papers on the program, but Maj. E. B. Bassett was out of the city and the only paper read was by Mr. Frank Rives on "Antony and Cleopatra." It discussed a historical subject of great interest and Mr. Rives handled his character in a most entertaining manner. The program committee announced the following list of speakers for the open session in May:

Dr. W. L. Nourse—"Things Worth While."

Mr. J. W. Downer—"The Reading Habit."

Mr. Ira L. Smith—"Such Stuff as Dreams."

Judge W. T. Fowler—"Queen of Hearts."

Judge J. T. Hanbery—"Young America."

Mr. C. M. Meacham—"Adam and Eve."

There will be no regular papers, but the program will be made up of after-dinner talks of ten or fifteen minutes each. The President, Mr. T. C. Underwood, will be toastmaster.

MENTAL SCIENCE

Given a Severe Backset in Federal Court.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 1.—Mrs. Helen Wilman Post, the self-styled mental science healer, will soon pay an involuntary but extensive visit to Nashville.

In the United States Court here yesterday, after conviction on the charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes, she was sentenced to one year and one day in the Federal penitentiary at Nashville.

She was not dismayed at the prospect of prison life, but declared, when asked if any reason existed why she should not be sentenced. "You cannot pass the sentence of guilt against me. The sentence you are going to pronounce will be against the ignorance of the age, and this sentence will not only fail to condemn me, but it will exonerate me from all participation in such ignorance."

NICE WEDDING NOTICE.

Queer "Write-Up" of Newly Married Couple.

The Opeloma, Miss., News contained the following marriage announcement:

Married—Miss Sylvia Rhodes and James Canhan last Saturday evening in the Baptist parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary town girl, who doesn't know any more than a rabbit about cooking and who never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means, and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is well known here as an up-to-date loafer. He has been living off the old folks all his life and he don't amount to much. They will live together, and the News has no congratulations to offer, for we don't believe any good can come from such a union.

ENGINEER KILLED.

And Fireman Hurt in L. C. Wreck at Princeton.

Princeton, Ky., March 1.—Express train No. 104, on the Illinois Central, ran into a section of a freight train in the yards here today. The engine was thrown down a forty foot embankment into a creek, the engineer, George Tagg, being killed and buried in the wreck. Conductor McKinney was badly injured and Fireman Tom Jones suffered a broken leg. The freight was cut in two at a street crossing, but a part of it had backed onto the main track.

Washington, March 2.—Attorney General Knox gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"I have advised the President that he has authorized to pay at once the Republic of Panama the $10,000,000 stipulated by the treaty, ratifications of which have just been exchanged. Also that he is authorized to pay to the new Panama Canal Company $40,000,000 which, under the agreement between the United States and that company, we were to pay for its property.

GUY DEANE TURNS UP.

Missing Owensboro Man Refused to Make a Statement to the Press.

Waco, Tex., March 1.—Guy M. Deane, of Owensboro, is here in good health, visiting R. S. Triplett. Mr. Deane politely declined to talk to reporters of the press tonight, as it was late before they located him. His absence has caused uneasiness to those of his friends who did not know he intended visiting Texas, but explanations wholly satisfactory have been sent by wire and mail.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, W. H. ### KOREA WILL APPEAL

To United States For Help Under Treaty, Though Japan's Ally.

Washington, March 1.—Advices received here show that Korea, fearful that Japan will not be able to carry out her friendly office at the conclusion of the war if victorious, and if Russia wins that her territory will be taken, will seek the aid of the United States. No news to this effect has, however, been received at the State Department. On account of the various influences on the Continent and in England, Korea looks for no help from either country.

Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, called upon Secretary Hay today and in an informal way discussed the growing feeling of unfriendliness between the United States and Russia. Count Cassini attributed the entire grounds for unfriendliness to the hostility of the press of this country.

LEAP YEAR BIRTH DAYS.

Two of Them Celebrated at Lafayette Monday.

Lafayette, Ky., March 1.—In the Kentuckian not long since was a mention of several persons who were born on the 29th of February. Yesterday there occurred here rather a remarkable birthday celebration. Mrs. Susan H. Brame, of near Benetstown, celebrated her 21st birthday. She is 88 years old, as you know it has been eight years since February had 29 days. She is remarkably stout and active for one of her age. She is a most elegant old lady and is noted for her old-fashioned Kentucky hospitality, and those who met there yesterday were royally entertained. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Wall, who was assisted in entertaining by Miss Katie Collins and Mrs. Will Ledford. There were 34 guests, representing four generations, and Aunt Sue, as she is called by most all who know her, was queen of the occasion. The dinner was just simply superb. She received a number of nice presents, among them a fine rocking chair from Fraser Bros. Those who attended were:

Mr. J. R. Caudle, Mrs. Emmet Caudle and three sons, Mrs. M. V. Williams and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Collins, son and daughter, Mrs. M. E. Snyder and daughter, Mrs. Jennie Powers and daughter, T. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ledford, Miss Katie Collins, Master Sherrill Collins, Mrs. Mary Garner and child, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Southall and two children, Mrs. S. M. Fraser and daughter, Mr. C. B. Fraser and daughter, Mr. F. I. Fraser, Mr. A. F. Fraser, Miss Isabel Fraser. Miss Laura Powell, age 12, celebrated her 2nd birthday yesterday evening by entertaining quite a number of her friends. Miss Laura is a special favorite among the young folks, and that the occasion was highly enjoyed by all who attended goes without saying, for the Misses Powell know how to entertain.

RIVES RESIGNS

And Douglas Bell Is Appointed Master Commissioner.

After the motion hour Wednesday morning in Circuit Court, Master Commissioner Frank Rives tendered his resignation to take effect at once. Mr. Rives had filled the position with praiseworthy efficiency and honesty for about five years. His business matters during that time were kept in a manner that admitted of no suspicion of crookedness or dishonesty. He had the entire confidence of the public having interests committed to his care and in laying down the office he has done so with clean hands and the good opinion of all those who admire official integrity and a conscientious performance of duty by those in public office.

The resignation was at once accepted and Judge Douglas Bell appointed to the vacancy. It has been known for some months that Judge Bell would be named for the position, on account of services rendered in the campaign of last year. He is the present judge of the Hopkinsville city court and is a young attorney of wide popularity and excellent standing in his profession. It is said that the court of appeals has decided that the position of master commissioner is not an office and he can hold both of his positions.

Mr. Henry Holton, who was associated with Mr. Rives in the office he resigned, retires with his chief.

BRIBERY CHARGE

Has Not Been Sustained By Testimony.

Substitute Breathitt County District at Last Goes Through.

Frankfort, March 3.—Nothing of importance was developed before the Legislative Bribery Investigation Committee last night. Two witnesses testified to Printing Investigation Committee that the $28,000 contract of the Globe Printing Company could have been done for a sum not exceeding $3,600. This investigation will be continued in Louisville.

After considerable filibustering the House yesterday, by a vote of 54 to 17, passed the bill making a new judicial district of Magoffin, Floyd and Knott counties. This takes Magoffin out of the Breathitt district. The Senate passed the House bill making the Circuit Clerk the chairman of the Election Board in Fayette, Kenton and Campbell counties for the purpose of removing Sheriff McInerney, of Covington. Many bills were reported adversely and killed in the House.

Feb. 30 Vs. April 1.

The February Twenty-niners may succeed in getting their names into the newspapers on account of the accident of their birth and the erratic points of the Gregorian calendar, but they have no call over the April Firsters in the matter of popularity.

The February Twenty-niners always keep a stock of photographs on hand in case of any sudden inquiry as to the day of their nativity and the last time they had celebrated their birthday, nominally. The fact that they have had only 11 legal birthdays in 48 years or some such a matter seems to give these twenty-niners a mighty high opinion of themselves, whereas it is really no more of a claim to distinction than the fact that they have a pink eyebrow or a wart on the left cheek.

On the other hand, the April Firsters have a double claim to distinction. Inasmuch as they have proved to mankind that they can succeed in spite of a double handicap (1) of being born into the world at all, and (2) of being born into the world on All Fools' Day.

Everybody who is born is toiled nearly all the time: everybody who is born on April 1 is toiled all the time—if he does not look out. Old Count Bismarck was one of the successful ones; and there are others.

But where is the hero, the statesman, the poet, or the successful business man who was born on Feb. 29?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

BRIGHT-DAVIS.

The Grip Leaves Thousands in its Path Weak, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Catarrh Wrecks.

From New York Journal. "During the recent Grip epidemic, claiming a million victims or more, the efficiency of Peruna in quickly relieving this malady and its after effects has been the talk of the continent."

LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed our country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks. Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands. Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so true that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery until they have used Peruna.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy revealed such unqualified and universal cures as Peruna.

A New Yorker's Experience. Hon. Joseph A. Flinn, ad interim Fifth District, writes from 101 Christopher street, New York City, as follows:

"When a postoffice overtakes our people we take precaution as a nation to preserve the citizens against the dread disease."

"La Grippe has entered thousands of our homes this fall, and I noticed that the people who used Peruna were quickly restored, while those who depended on doctor's prescriptions, spent weeks in recovering, leaving them weak and emaciated."

"I had caught a cold of la grippe and at once took Peruna, which drove the disease out of my system in a few days and did not hinder me from pursuing my daily work."

"I should like to see our Board of Health give it official recognition and have it used generally among our poor sick people in Greater New York."

Joseph A. Flinn, D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Harbors' Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over. I suffered with a severe headache, indigestion and numerous ills, so I could neither eat nor sleep, and I thought I would give up my work, which I could not afford to do."

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt a marked improvement. During the next two months I took five bottles, and then felt splendid. Now my head is clear, my nerves steady, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."

D. L. Wallace. Mr. O. H. Perry, Ash Grove, Kansas, writes:

"Again, after repeated trials of my medicines, Peruna and Manalin, I give this as my expression of the wonderful results of your very valuable medicine."

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such is brief is the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies:

"I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles, and all forms of stomach and bowel complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist.

BRITISH BORNEO

Something About This Interesting

An Odd Little Colony of England in the Far East—A Dumbay the Scene of Pleasures for the Dusky Natives.

Since the day Dewey's guns pronounced the doom of Spain in the orient and gave to the United States a vast territory in the far east we have developed a new interest in not only the people and conditions over which fly the Stars and Stripes, but in all the neighbors of those islands as well. Far off Java, Indo-China, Sumatra, New Guinea, and the Borneos are now our near neighbors, and worthy of our attention.

British Borneo is now just next door to us, so close, in fact, that we have the outside up. Beginning at P (Fig. 1),

the spinal column, M, and then across

The prime "ribs" (Fig. 2) are then taken off between the fifth and sixth contains seven ribs and is usually taken off in one piece, though it may be cut into as many as are desired. Cut off the remaining five ribs called "chuck ribs"

(Fig. 3), making the division between the first rib and the shoulder joint. Di-roasting.

The flank is usually boiled or braised but is also suitable for cooking in a steak. It is sometimes cut from the lean muscle on the inside of the flank. The loin is commonly cut into steaks, though flank is often desired for roasting.

In cutting steak from the loin one should begin at the "hilt," or rear end, and cut parallel to the line N O
(Fig. 1). The first slice cut on the thick side of the steak (Fig. 4A). They continue until the "hook point" is passed, when the slices are termed porterhouse steaks
(Fig. 4B). These contain both the sirloin and tenderloin muscles, the sirloin muscle being the larger of the two.

On the west coast, a section of the loin has been known to run the length of the country.

A great event to the natives is a barbecue, which, usually, occurs only on the arrival of some high official. Then the beef is cut into the little town of Saragat, chiefs in gold-embroidered garments,
and others who have but little in the way of garments to boast of. One of our illustrations shows a group of Saragat natives who had never before been to the coast, and knew nothing of the sea and of ships. They were very much astonished at what they saw, and were inclined to think that they were being "fed" in some way.

A Durbar is always made the occasion of festivities of all kinds, and as Englishmen carry their sporting instincts with them everywhere, a series of races was instituted by the English residents. One race for boys was very picturesque. The boys were clad in various fashions—perhaps we ought to say that the variety was chiefly in the various method adopted of wearing very little.

The type of native is Malay, and the same given to them is Dyak. It will be remembered that at Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee a number of Dyak troops were present in England and exhibited considerable comment on the part of the jubilee visitors from all countries.

CUTTING UP A BEEF

Points That Should Be of Value to the Home Butcher.

How It Can Be Done to the Best Advantage—How the Different Sections Should Be Cooked.

In cutting any kind of meat one should always cut across the grain of the meat.
Following this principle will result in uniform pieces and the joints will be more easily carved after cooking.

Beef should not be cut until the muscles have set firmly. When they are in the proper condition divide the halves into hind and fore quarters, from S to T, between the twelfth and thirteenth ribs (Fig. 1). This leaves one rib in the hind quarter. Lay the hind quarter on the block or table with the inside up.
Remove the kidney and suet. Cut off the flank as indicated by the line N to P in the illustration. Turn the quarter over and cut off the loin, beginning at the middle of the sacrum near O, and cutting to a point one and a half or two inches above the stiff joint at N. Turn the remainder of the quarter over and

DIGGING FOR FISH.

Natives of Guiana Use a Spade Instead of a Rod.

Imagine the disciples of bank Walton digging for fish! Just as well shoot a fish, some would say, but the fish of which we now tell live in the woods, and have exceedingly queer habits, says Stray Stories.

The murching of Botan is most famous. It is never caught in rivers, or even in standing ponds, though, as some accounts say, its abiding places always communicate with water, so that it can return to its "native element" when so disposed.

However that may be, they are caught, not by hook or net, but by the spade, and they are worth some digging—two feet long, perhaps, disproportionately thick, and always in pairs.

Plenty of other species are taken in the same way during the hot months, and plenty more divert themselves with a stroll on dry land occasionally. Sir R. Schomburgk saw negroes going out to fish in the jungles of Guiana with nothing but a basket or two, and they brought back as many as they could carry. Sir John Bowring constantly observed the fish go ashore and "lose themselves among the trees" upon the Simoes river Meinan.

As for burrowing fishes, they are numerous. We have a grave report of one species found 12 feet below the surface of a field. It is not necessary to believe this. But in Abyssinia they are dug up six feet or more below the river bed when it is dry.

So common is this excavating in Ceylon that an ingenious magistrate was able to decide a question of landmark, which seemed hopeless, by taking advantage of it.

One native accused another of diverting the course of a stream which was the ancient boundary of their respective lands, thus securing a strip which did not belong to him. There was evidence on both sides, of course.

The magistrate invited the plaintiff to point out the original channel, now dry ground, and there he dug. At the proper depth fishes were found—corpses naturally, for it is not alleged that these odd creatures can live permanently without moisture. But the jury were satisfied, and the guilty man confessed.

HOUSE FOR EACH SEASON.

Natives of Island Near Formosa Have Luxurious Tastes.

James W. Davidson, United States consul to Formosa, has written an account of a unique tribe living on a small island adjacent to Formosa, who have a house for each season of the year—cold, wet and dry, says the National Geographic Magazine. Each family possesses a splendid walled and stone paved compound, wherein are three distinct houses, attesting the cleverness of the natives and their desire to attain the maximum of comfort. One house, built half under ground, is their winter residence.

For the warmer weather they have a comfortable building, elevated some feet above ground, and for protection against the heat of summer they have a tower-like edifice, sufficiently elevated to catch the cool breezes. These houses were not only as habitations, but also as workshops and storehouses. In construction a considerable amount of wood is used as supports and cross beams and for the inner floor, ceilings and walls of the two large tiers. The elevated structure is of wood, bamboo and straw. A shelf projects level with the entrance, and the inhabitants are obliged to mount this and then crawl in on all fours, the doorway not being much larger than the entrance to a good sized dog kennel.

The room is like a large-dated box, some seven by eight feet, and is so low that one lying down can almost touch the roof with upraised hands, but the savages always squat, so the place is high enough for them.

SONG-LOVING LIZARDS.

Tuatarae of New Zealand Fond of Relucting Chorus.

A curious fact has lately been learned about the tuatara, the large native lizard of New Zealand, says the New York Sun.

It is a great, sleepy thing, from a foot upward in length, with a measurement around of about 12 inches. It is kept tamed, about rocks. Wild specimens are growing rare, though one island off the coast still swarms with them.

These harmless things come out as a rule only for food. But some one in a Christian church has discovered a way of bringing them out at any time. This is by singing to them.

They have their preferences in music too. They evince much more satisfaction at a rollicking chorus than at a solo.

One day a song sung by a girl brought some out, but only their heads were visible, their sleepy eyes opening every few minutes. Then the chorister tried "Soldiers of the Queen," and when all joined in the chorus there was no doubt about the effect on the tuataras.

They wriggled about on the rocks, almost dancing in their excitement and joy, until the repertoire of the singers was exhausted, when the lizards sneaked back again to their home among the rocks.

New Zealand is the only place in the world where these great lizards are found, and they are said by biologists to be out of place in this stage of the world's history. They belong to the coal period, and like the moon, ought, by natural laws, to have become extinct long ago.

CURIOUS WEDDINGS.

Freck Costumes Donned by Bride Parties in England.

A novelty in fancy dress weddings was held at Nottingham, the bridegroom being a naval officer, whilst the bride also came of a nautical family. Accordingly she appeared at the church dressed in a costume made of a union jack, the bridesmaids wearing similar attire, and the groom and his best man being in full naval uniform, says Stray Stories.

After the ceremony had been performed the happy pair drove to the bride's home on a gun carriage drawn by a party of bronzed turs.

The shepherd's wedding at the church of St. Madeleine at Versailles in 1894 was very recording, because, from the appearance of the guests, it might have been supposed one had taken a retrograde step in prehistoric times.

The bridegroom, whose name was Portel, had been a shepherd, when he had suddenly inherited a large fortune, so it was elected on the occasion of his marriage to a well-known society lady shortly afterwards that everyone should appear in garments made of sheepskins.

The effect was curious, for the bride wore her splendid collection of diamonds, which glinted from the folds of her strange wedding dress, and she carried a shepherd's crook heavily garlanded with flowers and clusters of gems. The church was crowded with more than 200 guests, all of whom wore prehistoric attire.

A convict wedding was celebrated in a Yorkshire town. Both the bride and bridegroom had for some paltry offense previously come within reach of the law, and when it was announced that the best man had also seen the inside of a jail it was resolved to commemorate the coincidence.

Accordingly, the male guests, the bridegroom included, put in an appearance in convict garb, on which the broad arrow predominated, and the women likewise wore drab dresses with the government hall-mark upon them.

As soon as the ceremony was over the party were driven to the bride's home, where a breakfast of prison fare was provided.

At this juncture the officiating clergyman, in toasting the couple, made it known that he had himself endured a day in a penitentiary for exhibiting undue exuberance of spirits at a boat race years before.

A FLOATING THEATER.

It Performs at the Towns on Three Big Rivers.

"Perhaps the most interesting of the new vessels plying the Ohio, Illinois and Mississippi rivers is one built upon an extensive scale for use as a floating theater," says Frank McChire, in the Science title American. "The seating capacity is for a thousand people, and there are boxes for the elite and a pit for the orchestra. In addition the vessel is sufficiently large to admit of numerous sleeping rooms for the actors, the deck hands, and all those connected with either the show or the boat. The entire force numbers 10. On the steamer which tows the floating theater, besides the boilers and engines, there is a complete electric light plant, besides a kitchen and dining room.

"In view of the fact that the long water route of the floating theater carries it into the warm portions of the south, the season for the show does not close until late in the southern winter. The entire route comprises 2,500 miles. The boat starts at Pittsburgh, and visits the towns of the coal miners and steel workers along the Monongahela river. Next it returns and goes down the Ohio to the Kanawha, thence to Cairo, and later up the Illinois river to La Salle. Then, after going back to the Mississippi, the boat slowly makes its way in the direction of New Orleans. The idea of a floating theater is not exactly new, but the extensive scale upon which it is being conducted and the fact that it is the drama instead of the vaudeville programme that is being presented attract unusual attention to the boat. "Faust" is the production which has been presented this season.

"Along the route of the floating theater the towns are often but ten or fifteen miles apart. Therefore the jumps of the boat and its company are not long ones. On the upper deck of the steamer is a calliope. Long before the theater reaches the town in which it is to show the sounds of this instrument may be heard. The idle population of the river towns at once begin to assemble on the wharf. As the steamer comes within a few hundred feet of the dock, the calliope is silenced and a brass band strikes up a familiar air. The crowd on the wharf then grows larger. Many are there awaiting the first opportunity to secure reserved seats. When the boat touches the wharf the sailors, some of whom are later transformed into actors, make the vessel fast and put the gangplank in place. The scenery is arranged and the orchestra rehearses while the cook is preparing the next meal in the kitchen. The people come aboard and select their seats, instead of doing so from a diagram on shore. At night the theater is brilliantly lighted by electricity, and a searchlight flashes over the surrounding territory. "The entertainment lasts about three hours."

High Temperatures.

Fresh revolutions in the phenomena of high temperatures have been brought by the new quartz vessels of German makers. These vessels bear great heat without softening, and may be exhausted of air, while one end of a quartz tube may be safely cooled and the other end kept very hot. In such tubes, German chemists have been studying the fusing and vaporization of metals in a vacuum. The varying behavior of zinc, cadmium, selenium, tellurium, antimony, tin, bismuth, silver, copper and gold have been watched, the evaporation of cadmium beginning at 320 degrees C., while gold—the most refractory metal tried—distilled but little at 1,375 degrees.

With a Motive.

"Billings tells me that although he has inherited a fortune, he sets his alarm clock for six in the morning, the same as ever."

"Habit, eh?"

"No. He says he likes to wake up and enjoy the sensation of not getting up to go to work."—Cassell's Journal.
